

Markets Ignore Warm PPI Report

Wholesale prices failed to follow the cooling trend evident in yesterday's consumer inflation report, although early trading suggests investors have dismissed the somewhat warmer PPI numbers. The final demand producer price index (PPI) rose +0.2% last month, above the +0.1% median forecast, while the previous month's -0.2% decline was revised upward to unchanged.

Scott McIntyre

Read the full article

Read more Economic Commentary