Optimistic Builders Unable to Respond to Buyer Demand

Scott McIntyre

Historically, the health of the housing market is measured by homebuyer demand. By this gauge, the outlook is strong. Yet, home sales are down on a year-over-year basis. The disconnect is entirely on the supply side, so industry well-being is better measured by new housing permits, starts and completions.

Read the full article

Read more Economic Commentary

©2026 Hilltop Securities Inc. \ All rights reserved \ MEMBER: NYSE/FINRA/SIPC